

Dragonshield

Corporate Liability Insurance

Recent changes to the Listing Rules from the Hong Kong Stock Exchange impose greater accountability on (and greater legal exposure to) directors of Hong Kong listed companies. As a result of these changes, directors have a specific responsibility to take an active interest in the company's affairs with the sufficiency of their time commitment being regularly reviewed.

Greater responsibility is imposed on directors for corporate governance with a requirement that they promulgate appropriate terms of reference for board committees. Directors are also required to meet minimum training requirements and disclose how these requirements have been met. An increased level of involvement is also demanded from Independent Non-Executive Directors ("INEDs") who, as from 31 December 2012, must make up one-third of board composition and play an active part in specified board committees.

AIG Dragonshield insurance policy is designed to assist Hong Kong listed companies adapt to these changes by:

- offering wide insurance coverage to directors and officers at board, board committee and management level for the legal and regulatory exposures they face;

- offering access to and coverage for on-call public relations and legal professionals, enabling a company to respond quickly and effectively in the event of a high profile raid or investigation;
- assisting directors in meeting their training needs by providing a Corporate Training Package on topical regulatory issues during the policy period;
- offering a novel difference-in-conditions coverage with a company's expiring D&O policy, assisting a company to transition with ease over to its new Dragonshield protection; and
- offering long-term security of cover with an option to renew at expiring terms in the event of no claims or other material events

Recognizing that many Hong Kong listed companies have regional and global footprints, Dragonshield also expands coverage to match what AIG insurers provide in foreign markets through its global liberalization clause.

Further, the complexities of cross-border placement may be addressed through AIG's Passport service platform, leveraging AIG's worldwide network of insurance operations.
